

Pre-Enrolment Assessment

Eligibility for entry into courses at the RTO requires demonstration, by prospective candidates, of their ability to understand study material and the potential ability to achieve the competencies stipulated in the training package. The RTO uses the candidate's responses to the following questions to assist with the eligibility assessment. Further information may be required by telephone interview, written or computer-based assessment or face-to-face interview.

The RTO is also obliged to assess whether the course for which candidates are applying to enter is suitable to satisfy the candidate's training needs and will assist them with their vocational objectives. Candidates should also declare any other learning needs they may have that will assist the RTO to provide the best possible training outcomes.
